

Integration

Formed in 2003, Mobimus Ltd. is the developer of "howzee.info", the Internet based service which enables faster and more efficient communication between property managers, tenants, landlords and other stakeholders.

With over 90 satisfied Property Management Companies and over 100,000 users, howzee.info is unquestionably one of the leading communication service providers in the housing sector in Europe.

The key benefits for Property Management Companies using Howzee Integration are:

In today's connected world, every company has their own unique infrastructure and the role of system integration is becoming more and more important. Howzee Integration makes information from your existing back-end system(s) available to your tenants automatically and therefore is designed to maximise the usefulness of the data within your existing infrastructure.
